Camp Liahona Has Guest

BY BOOTS BARRUS

Concord Stake Camp had a special feeling this year of 1969 due to the presence of a special guest, Yoko Taira, who arrived from Tokyo, Japan, and was brought directly to the Camp. Visiting in the home of Bro. and Sis. Lynn Tyler of the Oakgrove Ward, for 2 weeks as an Exchange Student, Yoko spoke very little English but was soon made to feel at home by the warm and friendly spirit of the Concord Stake girls. She completed the Yearling Certification and joined in all activities and camp spirit and her sweet presence added much delight to the festivities of each day.

Ruth Cornelius, Camp Director, was assisted by Mildred Gibbs and Gloria Magleby, Asst. Camp Directors. Other Stake Staff members were: Jean Paquette, Y.W.M.I.A. President, Rene Mortensen, Counselor, Boots Barrus, Naomi Mulcahy, Vicky Savage, Barbara Green, Billie Michael, Luann Stewart, Betty Crase, Lorraine Tyler, Joan Magleby, June Gillette, Marguerite Wassom, Opal Hammer, Emmy Cox, Lela Davis, Ann Harding, Joan Kuntsman, and Janice Evans. Priesthood members keeping the camp in ship shape order and taking care of emergencies were: John Cox, Jack Gillette, Irel Barrus, Wendell Bird, Cecil Epling and Russell Cornelius.

Approximately 235 girls were guided by their ward leaders and completed many beautiful crafts as well as completing their years certification. Big Sisters assisting the groups and telling stories during meal time were: Patti Glenn, DeLayne Cline, Sue Johnston, Daena Michael, Landa Heaton, Randa Bekker, Marsha Jones, Marty Fellows, Peggy Stokes, Merlynn Davis, Eleanore Swart, Kathy Marsh, Elaine Butler, Dawn Tyler, Claire Carlson and Laura Pierce.

With a great deal of reluctance Saturday was spent in striking camp and many testimonies were spoken by the girls on their departure with promises of returning next year.

Many thanks are extended to the leaders who work so diligently and long to make this week at camp one of inspiration in the lives of the young girls of the Concord Stake.

New Chapel For Pittsburg Ward

By BOOTS BARRUS & THORA ASTLE

Hustle and bustle is the word for the Pittsburg Ward with the news that they will be building a new chapel in conjunction with the Antioch Ward. Monthly ward spaghetti dinners have been set for the 4th Friday of the month and a sizeable sum has been already established with these successes and the catering of the Mormonaire Conference weekend held recently in the I.S.C. Forthcoming will be the big Ward Fun Fair, which has been set for Oct. 4th, at the Church. Lowell Budge is Finance Advisor with Keith Sawyer acting as Chairman of the many fund raising projects which will be needed to complete this project. Working with them as the committee are Laura Muceus, Elva Johnson and Burns E. Magleby. All members of the ward are working diligently to help bring the new chapel to our area.

I. B. Ball Book Store To Close

Sister Rachel Ball of the Berkeley ward has announced that the I. B. Ball Bookstore, operated at her home, will be discontinued after a quarter of a century of operation.

Patriarch I. B. Ball and Sister Ball set up the book store in 1948, in the basement of their home to accommodate East Bay members of the Church. Earlier, books were sold, on consignment, at the ward chapel.

When Patriarch Ball passed away, December 1, 1962, Sister Ball considered closing the basement book store, but decided to continue for the convenience of members. At that time, she was also assisting Brother Ball in his duties as publisher of The Mesenger.

Sister Ball recommends the Golden Question Bookstore which has been opened at 2218 MacArthur Boulevard in Oakland. The Golden Question Bookstore is operated by Brother and Sister George Larsen, members of the Oakland Third ward.

His speech and dramatic tallents have been applied for many years to events of Church and civic significance. He has served as narrator for various Church programs in the Salt Lake Tabernacle. His publications include: Life Eternal, The Spirit Giveth Life, and For Behold Ye Are Free.

"THE RELIGIOUS OUTLOOK AS AN AID TO HEALTH"

By the Editors

The physical problems of a person's life often correspond to mental problems and both of these to spiritual problems. There is no physical reform possilbe without a moral reform and there is no moral reform without spiritual renewal.

This is the sage observation of Dr. Paul Tournier, renowned Swiss psychiatrist, in a recently published treatise entitled, "The Healing of Persons." The warp and woof of the article is that behavior and a mode of life are important factors in determining health.

Numerous confirmations of this idea come from physicians, psychologists, psychiatrists and sociologists. Dr. Swain of Boston reported that 60 per cent of arthritis cases had their origin in some form of moral conflict. On record also is the report of Dr. K. A. Menninger who did an exhaustive study on the state of mind of persons suffering from high blood pressure. He concluded that this condition is "a sort of physical expression of a moral hypertension."

Dr. C. G. Jung's observations on this theme have been quoted many times: "Among all my patients in the second half of their lives, there has not been one whose problem, in the final analysis, was not that of finding a religious outlook on life. It is safe to say that every one of them fell ill because they had lost that which the truly vital religions had given to their followers, and none of them really had been healed who did not acquire a religious outlook.

The death rate of members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) is well below that of the United States as a whole (5.17 per 1,000 compared to 9.5). In the field of mental illness, Utah (aproximately 72 per cent Mormons) had, at the last published report, 16 resident patients per 1000 population compared to 100 for the nation. Researchers have attributed this favorable status to the solid religious outloook of Utahns generally.

The Looking Glass

(THE MAIN FORUM)

One night around 12:30 a.m. Dr. Allen Reem (President Milton Reem's son), my brother Richard and I stood outside the locked gates of the Oakland Temple grounds looking in. After midnight they lock the gates so vandals won't steal the Temple. Our car, of course, was locked inside.

We were preparing to leap the gates and find the custodian, when we saw a blood-curdling, 20-foot shadow of a doberman pinscher trot across the wall of the Temple. He was on the terrace, and the flood-lights threw his enlarged shadow against the Temple. Since the dogs would just as soon nibble a Mormon as munch a gentile, we re-evaluated our plan to climb over the gate.

We stood around until we saw the outline of the guard poking along the terrace. We yelled, and his shadow stopped and seemed to sniff the air. Soon we saw the guard and his two beautiful dogs come out of the Temple gate and come to our rescue.

Tough when he needs to be, the Mormon guard is a gentleman, and I have seen the dogs stand perfectly still and allow themselves to be petted by little girls. But if you smell suspicious the dogs get just a little toothy.

Earlier in the day we found the dogs sitting in the front seat of the guard's car. Dr. Reem rolled up a paper bag and stuck it in the window. When the dog and the bag made contact there was a brief commotion, followed by tufts of paper slowly floating out the window. Dr. Reem now has an idea of what happens when you violate a doberman's air space.

Moral: If you're on the Temple grounds some night looking for your car, and the clock strikes twelve and you suddenly see The Hound of The Temple: don't scream; share your bread-crumbs; and the first one to panic is a monkey's uncle.

Quick, Jim, on your knees!! BYU is losing.

MY GIFT

Once upon a day that knew no night
I stood before my heavenly Father's throne
And asked of Him a favor, my Soul's birthright.
I stood before Him, humble, hopeful and alone;
I had lived in love and knew no fright
And dared to ask one precious gift to own.
I could see my Father smile on me,
Loving condescension in His eyes
And with His wonderful generosity,
He gave me kindly leave from Paradise—
For the gift I sought was earth-mortality,
But He bade me not forget His wise advice;
If I keep in touch through daily prayer,
My Father leads me home with tender care.
